WHAT ARE THE NUTRIENTS IN RP3 BY TRÉVO?

Tribulus Terrestris

It is a plant that has been used for centuries in traditional Chinese medicine for its libido-enhancing benefits. Today, Tribulus is commonly affiliated with the support and maintenance of virility, libido, and overall sexual wellbeing.

Siberian Ginseng

It is a plant prominent in both Korean and Russian folk medicine to promote stamina and overall health. Traditional Chinese medicine has used Siberian Ginseng to reduce lethargy, fatigue, and low stamina, as well as increased endurance.

Horny Goat Weed

It is a type of weed that is a part of traditional Chinese medicine and has been around for thousands of years. It is believed even a small amount can send your libido soaring and help bring your testosterone levels to a healthy range.

Maca

helps support the maintenance of healthy testosterone levels, increased energy, stamina and vitality. It contains powerful nutrients called macaenes and macamides that have been associated with supporting a healthy sex drive.

Catuaba Bark

This herb is considered by Brazilian medicine to be a natural stimulant containing three specific alkaloids believed to support a healthy libido. It may also provide support for the central nervous system, as well as calm nerves and support memory.

Lycopene

It is a red carotenoid hydrocarbon found in tomatoes and other red fruits and vegetables that is a powerful antioxidant that may be very beneficial in supporting and helping to maintain prostate health by reducing inflammatory signals and helping to prevent oxidative DNA damage.
